BOPPHY

Broadband down power lines

| history | | similar |

BOPPHY is a new way of getting the Internet down power lines.

This has been tried before but has failed because of the enormous energy loses and also because the signals broadcast down the wires causes so much interference with mobile phones etc.

BOPPHY think that by using new techniques which ensure that certain frequencies are not broadcast there model will work.

They seem to underestimate the amount of money needed to build a fables company and also the problems of selling to a the electricity supply companies and contractors.
